Our Story

Top Origins™ is an NYC start-up that was founded in 2012. Inspired by the lack of adequate ways of staying charged, we were one of the first small businesses to offer cell phone charging stations to the NYC market.

As we evolved we observed that mainstream users require power in their hands and began offering power banks as a mobile charging solution. We expanded the product line into a premier cellular phone accessories brand known today as WireSage™.

Our client needs continued to grow. As a small business, we are able to offer the flexibility of custom tailored solutions.

We now specialize in importing a variety of products from various parts of the world. In addition to cell phone accessories, we also manufacture and import sporting goods, personal healthcare, and security products.
